IMITATION GUNS INCLUDING BB GUNS

CITY
WIDE

In the light of recent tragic events in Liverpool where Rhys Jones was killed by a gun, messages in relation to firearms, imitation or otherwise, seem ever more pertinent than ever. I would like to take this opportunity to warn people about the dangers of carrying imitation guns in public.

Since April 2004 it has been illegal to carry an imitation gun in public and police have been making the consequences clear.

Trained police officers have great difficulty distinguishing these guns from actual firearms and have to act as if they are real. There is a real risk of someone being shot by armed response officers who are unable to establish the exact nature of the weapon. The fear felt by members of the public on being confronted with an imitation gun can be just as great. Valuable time and resources are being used up when armed response teams have to be sent to incidents involving fake guns.

I want to ask parents to support the police by making their children aware of the consequences of having such a weapon in their possession.

SAFE USE OF AN ATM

FOR YOUR USE

The overwhelming majority of cash machine withdrawals take place crime free, but cardholders still need to be aware of the common sense steps to take when using a cash machine.

Top tips: How cardholders can prevent themselves becoming a victim of crime when withdrawing money from a cash machine

1. Choosing a Cash Machine

Put your personal safety first. Be aware of others around you. If someone close to the cash machine is behaving suspiciously or makes you feel uncomfortable choose another. If there is anything unusual about the cash machine, or there are signs of tampering, do not use the machine and report it to the bank immediately. If you suspect that a skimming device has been attached to a cash machine, inform staff within the bank or, if this is not possible, inform the police. Put your personal safety first and do not attempt to remove it yourself.

2. Using a cash machine

Be aware of your surroundings. If someone is crowding or watching you, cancel the transaction and go to another machine. Do not accept help from seemingly well-meaning strangers and never allow yourself to be distracted. Stand close to the cash machine and always shield the keypad to avoid anyone seeing you enter your PIN.

3. Leaving a cash machine

Once you have completed a transaction, discreetly put your money and card away before leaving the cash machine. If the cash machine does not return your card, report its loss immediately to your bank. Tear up or preferably shred your cash machine receipt, mini-statement or balance enquiry when you dispose of them.

ParentLine
SCOTLAND 0808 800 2222
Because being a parent isn't easy

Parentline is the free, confidential helpline for anyone caring for a child to call about any problem or worry concerning a child or family life. The helpline is a National service provided by Children 1st, who have been working for a better future for children in Scotland for over 100 years, and is partially funded by the Scottish Executive.

They aim to help parents talk through concerns and to get the information and support they need, exactly when they need it

If you need any more information, I have a selection of posters and leaflets. You could also check out their web site at <http://www.children1st.org.uk/parentline/>
